Every engine makes the grade.

Every part that goes into our engines, as well as every step of the assembly process, is validated. Validation ensures the engine will be manufactured to the same exacting standards as the engines in new GM vehicles. State-of-the-art testing labs utilize the most sophisticated equipment to validate GM Goodwrench Engines. Dynamometer testing, compression verification, spin testing, oil flow and pressure testing, and extreme hot and cold temperature tests are all part of the vital procedures used to meet our commitment to quality.
